

GLASSING OPTIONS

A high-angle, front-facing photograph of an orange Volkswagen Beetle. The car is split vertically down the center to demonstrate two different paint finishes. The left side of the car, including the left headlight, turn signal, and half of the hood and fender, has a matte finish. The right side, including the right headlight, turn signal, and the other half of the hood and fender, has a highly reflective, polished finish. A bright light source from the upper right creates a sharp, circular highlight on the polished portion of the hood. The chrome bumper and front grille are visible at the bottom. The car is parked on a light-colored paved surface.
